

A short information from Elina Larsson (IFHE Vice President Europe)

The book Legal Framework for Home Economics Education: Foundations for High-Quality Teaching and Learning will be available starting the WHED 21st of March and offers a comprehensive overview of the legal structures and policies shaping home economics education.

- Comprehensive Coverage: The book delves into the various legal frameworks that influence home economics education, providing educators, policymakers, and researchers with a solid foundation for high-quality teaching and learning.
- Practical Insights: It includes practical examples and case studies that illustrate how legal considerations impact curriculum development and educational practices in the field of home economics.
- Global Perspective: While focusing on European contexts, the book also addresses international perspectives, making it relevant for a global audience interested in the legal aspects of home economics education.

For more details and to order the book: <https://bokshop.bod.se/legal-framework-for-home-economics-education-elina-larsson-9789180808859>

The book will be available in other bookstores also, but right now via the link above.