

Donna Pendergast

---

Publication in IJHE provides wide exposure to journal articles and adds to the professional literature base of the field. Theoretical papers, literature reviews, and a wide range of genres along with research papers are invited for publication in the journal. As editor, I strongly encourage submissions to the journal. The papers included in this issue demonstrate the diversity of the field, ranging from social inequality and dietary diversity to curriculum development, professional learning and professionalism and a wide spectrum of other facets of the field.

All papers in this issue of the journal are refereed and hence have undergone rigorous, double-blind review, and are adding to the professional literature base of the field.

Professor Donna Pendergast, PhD
Editor, IJHE