

Applications now open:

International Professional Home Economist Certificate (IPHE)

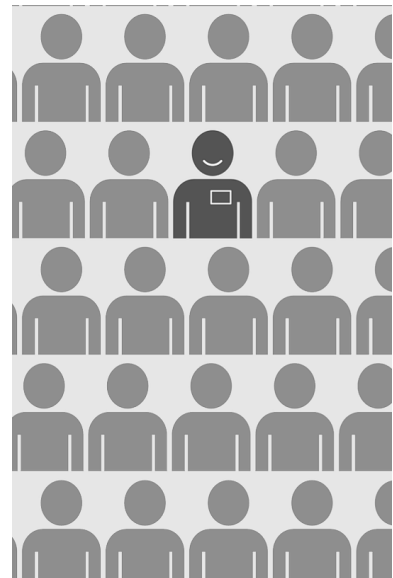

The International Professional Home Economist Certificate (IPHE) is awarded to professionals who promote the visibility of the discipline at a global level. Designed to supplement national credential systems, it sets an international standard for the profession.

Benefits of Certification

Competitive advantage. Improve your resume and showcase your international knowledge and skills

Professional credibility. Show that you meet international standards and strengthen your professional and your employer's reputation

Networking opportunities. Gain access to United Nations platforms and a network of renown professionals with a global perspective on home economics

Recognized international activities:

- Individual membership to IFHE
- participation in IFHE Congresses & Councils
- attendance at national IFHE meetings
- lecture or project linking with IFHE members in another country
- contribution to IFHE Newsletter
- Tweeting about IFHE and home economics
- presentation of a paper at IFHE Congress
- promotional activity for World Home Economics Day
- and more

Requirements

Certificate is awarded for 4 years. The application must document your international home economics activity in the 4 years prior to application, not all of them requiring international travel.

IFHE charges a non-refundable processing fee of 50EUR (reduction available). Successful application requires a valid individual IFHE membership at application and during the certificate's 4-year validity.

Details & application online:

<https://www.ifhe.org/initiatives/professional-certification>