RATIONALE:

Home Economics as a profession for over one hundred years (100 years) of existence has consistently been interested in promoting family life and sustainability all over the world. The major target of the discipline is to ensure that every individual has adequate quality of life. The global economic recession coupled with socio-cultural uncertainties require individuals, families and communities to buckle up and chart diverse directions to survive and forge ahead. In time past, families and communities have undergone varied changes as societies they exist in have also changed.

Today's families and communities however must in the atmosphere of these threats tackle novel and fundamental strategies which proof their tenacity. Despite the fact that the Home Economics profession focuses on the well-being of individuals, families and communities in a changing world, the profession is witnessing a time of transition for a new paradigm shift and the custodians of Home Economics globally have embraced this shift and futuristic which cut across multidisciplinary concerns.

It is believed that sustaining national stability with its corresponding challenges in this present dispensation is apparent. Thus, Home Economists, other family and community-based professionals, stakeholders and students in Africa and the Africa diaspora must come together in a network that will provide scholarly communications to give Home Economics a future direction.

The Home Economics Professional Association of Nigeria (HEPAN) 9th National Conference, 2019 therefore seeks to address this concern.
