IJHE Manuscript Submission Form 2021

International Journal of Home Economics ISSN 1999-561X

This refereed journal is an official publication of the International Federation for Home Economics. Electronic access is available on the IFHE website <https://www.ifhe.org/ijhe/ijhe-issues>. The International Journal of Home Economics brings together emergent and breaking work on all aspects of Home Economics, and, most importantly, how the everyday work of Home Economists might be improved and renewed. It features quantitative and qualitative, disciplinary and trans-disciplinary, empirical and theoretical work and publishes special editions on key developments. It aims to push the boundaries of theory and research—to seek out new paradigms, models and ways of framing Home Economics. The International Journal of Home Economics is published twice a year in July and December. Papers for review will be accepted throughout the year by email to intjournalhomeeconomics@gmail.com.

Submission and review process

Before a manuscript is sent out for peer review, a pre-review check is performed, including plagiarism software scan. This may result in the manuscript being returned to the author(s) if

- plagiarism is suspected
- the manuscript submission form is not included
- the copyright form is not completed
- the relevance to the readership is not clear
- submission guidelines are not met
- the manuscript is incomplete
- the Editor believes that further work or development is necessary before the manuscript is ready for peer review.

Manuscripts undergo a blind review process. Manuscripts are accepted at the discretion of the Journal Editors. If plagiarism is suspected, the author will be contacted.

If the Editor deems a paper appropriate, it will then enter the double-blind review process critiqued by two suitable persons, determined by the Editor, in consultation with the IJHE Editorial Board. On completion of the review process, authors will be advised of the results. If the decision is to accept the manuscript with revision, the authors will have six weeks to complete the revisions before the offer lapses. During revision, the authors are to reinstate self-citations, references and acknowledgements.

Proofs will be sent by email to the corresponding author for return within 72 hours. It is the author's responsibility to ensure the accuracy of these proofs. Corrections should be kept to an absolute minimum.

IJHE Manuscript Submission Form 2021

Manuscript Submission Form

This document, The Manuscript Submission Form (MSF), must be complete and included with all manuscript submissions to the International Journal of Home Economics before a manuscript will be considered for publication. Manuscripts are to be provided as blind copy (see next page). Please do not use ALL CAPITALS in any documents submitted to IJHE.

Title

The title of the manuscript is to be 25 words or fewer. Please provide up to five keywords subject to approval by the Editor.

Paper classification

Authors must classify their article as one of the following: Research paper, Viewpoint, Technical paper, Conceptual paper, Literature review, or General Review. All papers require an abstract of between 100 and 200 words, but research papers must provide a structured abstract including (where applicable): Purpose, Design/methodology, Findings, Research limitations/implications, Practical implications, and Social implications.

- Research papers report on research carried out by the author(s). The study may include the design or testing of a model or framework, action research, data testing, market research or surveys, empirical, scientific or clinical research.
- Viewpoint papers (including journalistic pieces) rely on the author's opinion and interpretation.
- Technical papers describe and evaluate products, processes or services.
- Conceptual papers develop hypotheses (instead of reporting research), consider philosophical debates and comparisons of other studies.
- Literature review papers annotate and comment on the research in a particular subject area.
- General review papers deliver a summary or historical analysis of some theory, practice or phenomenon.

An ethics statement regarding permission for the research conducted should be included with research papers. If the research includes human subjects, a statement regarding the protection of participants should also be included.

Disclosures and acknowledgements

Authors are required to describe the originality / value of their paper, particularly as it applies to the IJHE international readership. Manuscripts submitted for publication must not have been previously submitted or published elsewhere.

IJHE endorses the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE) Code of Conduct and Guidelines for ethics in publishing (<https://publicationethics.org/resources/guidelines>). Articles must be original work and, where appropriate, should acknowledge any significant contribution by others. Authors must disclose any conflicts of interest and acknowledge funding sources at the manuscript submission stage. Manuscripts are scrutinised for plagiarism before the review process begins and will be returned if there are concerns.

Blind Copy

The manuscript is to be provided as a blind copy for the integrity of the review process, with all information identifying the authors removed from manuscript, including self-citation.

Manuscript writing and formatting

Please do not use ALL CAPITALS unless for acronyms or abbreviations.

Contributors are addressing an international audience so jargon and local terminology clarified. Authors should use non-discriminatory language. Measurements should be in metric units.

IJHE Manuscript Submission Form 2021

The manuscript should be provided as an MS Word document, double-spaced with minimal formatting. Do not use footnotes, endnotes, underlining or indents. There should be a maximum of three levels of headings(not numbered) formatted bold and at 16 pt, 14 pt and 12 pt. A spell check should be completed before the manuscript is submitted. All referencing is to be APA (see <http://www.apastyle.org>). Using ReciteWorks (<http://reciteworks.com/>) can help ensure accuracy in referencing. All pages should be numbered.

Figures

All figures must be in the correct place, and referred to, in the text. Separate high-resolution source files should be included (e.g., .xls, .ai, .ppt, .png, .jpg, .tif, .gif). Figures may be supplied in colour. The figure should be captioned sequentially (e.g., Figure 1 Title of figure) below the image. Do not include the caption in the image. The source of the figure should be acknowledged below the figure, even if it is the authors' own work.

Tables

Tables should appear in the manuscript in the correct place, and referred to, in the text. They must be in text format (not image) so that they can be formatted to IJHE's publication standards. Tables supplied as images will be returned to authors. Tables should be captioned sequentially (e.g., Table 1 Title of table) above the table. The source of the table should be acknowledged below, even if it is the authors' own work.

Author information

Please do not use ALL CAPITAL letters, as it can be difficult to determine which words should be capitalised. IJHE's convention is to publish authors' names with their given name first, followed by their family name. IJHE collects information about the authors' country to ensure a truly international authorship.

ORCID (optional) provides a persistent digital identifier that distinguishes you from every other researcher and, through integration in key research workflows such as manuscript and grant submission, supports automated linkages between you and your professional activities ensuring that your work is recognized. For more information see: <https://orcid.org/>

Copyright

By submitting a manuscript, the author(s) agree that copyright for their articles are automatically transferred to the IJHE if articles are accepted for publication. The copyright gives IJHE the exclusive rights to reproduce and distribute the article. The corresponding author is responsible for collecting all signatures. However, each author can sign a separate copyright form if that is more convenient. Please print the copyright page, sign and scan it and email it to intjournalhomeeconomics@gmail.com with your manuscript submission.
